Basic data gives you a brief overview on the course. You find the title, the course code, the department and unit the course is offered in, as well as the course type (lecture, seminar), the frequency of offer and the weekly teaching hours.

The box Periods gives you important information on the registration for the course.

If you scroll down, you find more details on the ECTS and the examination:

Expected examination / course performance

| ECTS | Art (Type of event) | Form (Form of examination) | Bemerkung (Comment) | Prüfungsnummer (Examination-Number) |
|------|------------------------|-------------------------------|------------------------|--|
| 6 | Vorlesung mit Tutorium | | | LIT-13865 |
| 3 | Vorlesung | | | LIT-28870 |

In this case, you can obtain either 3 or 6 ECTS.

The tab Appointments and Rooms leads you to more information on the course instructor, the time and date of the course, and the room where the course takes place:

- 3.) Courses you select into your schedule are updated automatically (if the lecturers enter the data), so if a course is canceled or postponed, it will be changes and noted in the schedule.

Course selection

General information

- The course catalogue for each new semester is usually published 1-2 months before the lectures start.
- Exchange students can attend courses of any department and across disciplines.
- However, some courses might require certain qualifications, the number of participants can be limited or a course can be restricted to students of a certain study programme.
- In addition to their field of study, the International Office of the University of Konstanz recommends exchange students to take German courses of the Language Institute (SLI).
- A registration for courses is often not required. Please consult the course description in ZEuS to check whether it is necessary to register for a course. Courses with limited numbers of allowed participants will generally require a course registration. Please mind the registration deadlines.

Checklist - What do I have to do if I want to attend a course?

- Ask your home university and your scholarship provider what conditions must be met during your studies in Konstanz (ECTS credits, course hours per week, etc.).
- Check the ZEuS system for the courses you want to attend: <https://zeus.uni-konstanz.de/>
- For any questions, please contact the respective Departmental Exchange Coordinator for detailed advice on the selected courses.
- Contact your home university to check whether the selected courses will be transferred and recognized (ERASMUS+ students: Learning Agreement).
- Consult ZEuS if it is necessary to register for the selected courses and register when required (mind the registration deadline!). Also mind the target group of the course.
- Attend courses and check whether the course suits you or not within the first 2 weeks of classes.
- Ask the instructor for information about assessments, grades and credits at the beginning of the class.
- Inform the instructor at the beginning of the term and classes about your estimated date of departure and ascertain whether a separate preliminary examination would be necessary in order to receive the grades and credits duly.

Please keep in mind that you might also fail a course! Considering this, please ensure that you have enough ECTS credits at the end of the semester to fulfil all requirements of your home university and/or your scholarship provider.
